

PLUCKY GIRL HELPS ROUT HOLD-UP MEN

One Proposed in Dance Hall that She Aid in Robbing Companion.

USES HER UMBRELLA.

Beats Off Highwaymen, Who Flee at Approach of Policeman Hearing Her Cries.

Domenico Bianco, a wealthy barber, of No. 419 Eighth avenue, and Miss Millie Way, a pretty girl of eighteen, with whom he had been spending part of the evening in a dance hall, were brutally assaulted by three highwaymen at Twenty-fourth street and Eighth avenue early to-day. The thieves used their fists on the couple, and one of them had a short club with which he struck Miss Way over the head several times. He was unable to subdue her and the thieves got nothing for their pains. Two of them escaped empty handed, while the third was caught and arrested after a desperate fight.

Bianco told the police that the young woman with him was his niece. Afterward he said she was the daughter of a friend, and that he had called at her home during the afternoon and invited her to accompany him to dinner.

Miss Way lives at No. 36 Renwick street, and she and Bianco went to the Royal restaurant on Thompson street. Bianco is in the habit of carrying large sums of money with him and is not averse to displaying his wealth in public places. He is also proud of three diamond rings he wears.

These evidences of prosperity attracted the attention of three men who also were dining at the Royal restaurant, and when Bianco and the girl left the place at 10:30 o'clock the men followed them. Bianco refused the men's offer, but did not believe they meant any harm. He and Miss Way proceeded to Cassano's dance hall at No. 28 Seventh avenue, where they remained until after midnight. While they were there the three men who had followed them entered. One of these men made repeated efforts to get in conversation with Miss Way, but failed until he finally asked her to dance with him. The place is a free and easy resort and introductions are not always necessary. Miss Way accepted the invitation and danced with the man.

While they were waiting about the place she says the man said to her: "Lead your friend out of here and we will beat his head off and split his ribs."

Much frightened, Miss Way left the man and told Bianco what he had said. Bianco was frightened, too, and decided to get out. He and Miss Way left and had reached the third man came up behind him and threw his arms about his neck. Bianco struggled, but was thrown to the ground and kept there.

Meanwhile Miss Way was fighting desperately with her fists and her umbrella. At the same time screaming for help. Detective Sergeant O'Donnell came along at this juncture and started for the three men. They immediately fled, and O'Donnell pulled out his revolver and fired a shot. The pistol exploded, blowing a part of his finger, but O'Donnell was game and started in pursuit. Bianco and Miss Way followed him. A man named John J. Lloyd got in the chase a block away, and he finally caught one of the men. The man fought desperately, but Lloyd, O'Donnell, Bianco and Miss Way were too much for him and he was finally subdued and taken to the West Twenty-fourth street station house.

There he gave the name of Stephen Murphy, said he was twenty-two years old and lived at No. 38 King street. He said he must have been drunk when he attacked Bianco, as he was a respectable working man. He said he did not bear him out, and later, when arraigned in the Jefferson Market Court, he was held in $1,000 bail for trial. Mrs. Bianco, when seen at her home, was apparently much disturbed by her husband's absence from home. She said she did not know Miss Way at all, but that her husband would probably tell her who she was when he came home.

"There will be a lot of things for him to explain," said Mrs. Bianco, when she got her jaw in a way which seemed to mean business.

FAIRY LAND FOR THE FEMINE SHOPPER.

It Is to Be Found at the Spring Opening of the Simpson Crawford Co.

With wisteria blossoms twining in clusters about thousands of incandescent lights, the opening of the Simpson Crawford Co., at their Sixth avenue store is a scene in fairy land, and the display of new styles in Easter hats, gowns, and other feminine apparel is a tempting one.

The millinery department is abloom with dainty spring hats, in profusion of lovely color and chic and graceful shape. The polo turban holds the upper hand. It is present in every conceivable color and material—white straw with striking pompons, black straw in different shades decorated with winks, and even black jet trimmed with white aigrettes, and charming Paris model polo is made enthralling of cherry leaves and fruit, and countless others are of flower petals.

The "baker" hat is a pretty new shape, somewhat similar to the Charles Corday, so much worn this winter, and is sure to be popular because it is especially attractive in black, with trimmings of American beauty roses, the leishors with flower crowns are irresistible in the parade. The new styles are two beauties—one a heliotrope straw and another a heliotrope straw with a bunny crown.

There is besides a full line of ready-to-wear hats of exceptional quality, style and value. In the dress and suit department Paris models are hobnobbing with pretty, inexpensive suits. This summer gowns from across the water are many in number and a quantity of lace insertion. In fact every one of the latest dressy gowns shows lace of some kind, from the freest trellis to the heaviest Irish. A feta made in the new pony jockey cut, with butterfly sleeves and plaited skirt with cuckoo-bird yoke effect. The evening gowns are bewitchingly lovely. One is of pink mulline spangled with the new copper spangles.

There are linen suits, lingerie waists, petticoats every color of the rainbow, and neckwear of delicate every feminine sort that reveals in pretty things.

FIREMEN FIGHT TO SAVE UNION

Interborough Men Go to Court and Block the Plan to Revoke Charter Because of Strike—Officers to Answer Friday.

Judge Lacombe, in the United States Circuit Court, to-day signed an order directing Grand Master John J. Rannahan, Charles A. Wilson, Acting Grand Master, and other grand officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, to appear before him on Friday, April 7, to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be issued restraining the Grand Lodge from revoking the charter of "Just in Time" Lodge, No. 148.

It is alleged the officers intend to revoke the charter because of the participation by the members of "Just in Time" Lodge in the strike on the Interborough Rapid Transit Railway Company without consent of the national officers. The temporary injunction is asked pending the final hearing of a suit brought against the Grand Lodge officers by Harry B. Pinney, a member, acting for himself and others.

To expel them as members or to revoke the local charter, the complaint alleges, would deprive them of certain rights to which they are legally and morally entitled. The insurance of each member varies from $500 to $3,000.

WOULD THAT EVERY FAMILY KNEW ITS VALUE.

The Wish of the Ursuline Sisters of Waterville, Me., in Indiana. Father John's Medicine for the Cure of Consumption.

"We, the undersigned, cheerfully recommend and endorse the use of Father John's Medicine as a sure and immediate relief for all colds, throat and bronchial trouble, having used it with success for one of the members of our institution that was threatened with consumption of the throat. Hearing of the excellence of Father John's Medicine, we made a trial and are glad to state that after taking three bottles a decided change took place, having recovered after nearly two years. In a word, it is the only remedy that helped her. Would that every family knew its value." (Signed) Ursuline Sisters, Ursuline Convent, Waterville, Me.

MYSTERY IN SHOOTING OF YOUNG WIFE

Husband Says She Fired Pistol Bullet That Caused Her Death.

(Special to The Evening World.) PHILADELPHIA April 6.—A shooting affair shrouded in mystery and attended by sensational circumstances occurred in Strawberry Mansion in Fairmount Park, this city, to-day.

Mrs. Urania Conde, a comely young woman of twenty-three, who is said to have lived with her father at Patchogue, L. I., was shot in the head and died later in the Woman's Homeopathic Hospital.

Percy Conde, the husband of the woman in the Sedgely Guard House, held by the police as a witness to the shooting.

According to his statement, Mrs. Conde inflicted the fatal wound. The pistol with which the shot was fired belongs to the husband. He admitted carrying it in his pocket, but claims that his wife suddenly took it from him, and before he could prevent her, she had pressed the muzzle to her head and pulled the trigger.

Park Guard Davis heard the shot, rushed quickly to the spot and found the woman lying on the ground and the young man bending over her. He summoned an ambulance and had the woman hurried to the hospital. When she arrived there she was unconscious.

Every effort was made to revive her in order to secure a statement from her about the shooting, but the efforts of the physician were of no avail. Conde stated that he has not lived with his wife for two years, and that during that period she resided at Patchogue, L. I. Yesterday she came to this city and called on him at the North American Lace Mill Company plant, at Eighth street and Glenwood avenue, where she was employed as a draughtsman. Conde added that he left the factory in company with his wife, but it is presumed left her later in the day.

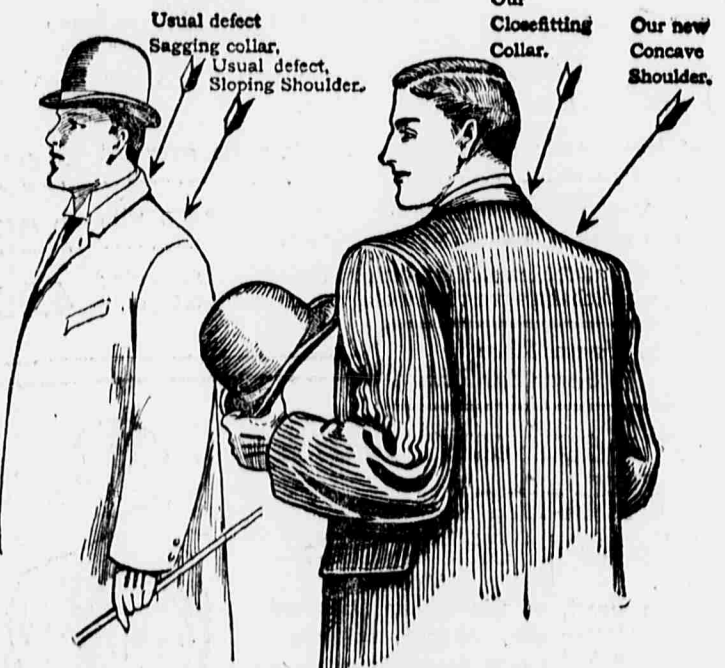

Conde further said that last evening his wife appeared at the Haymarket Hotel, where he lived, and demanded to see him, but he was not at home. When told this she became angry and created a scene.

This morning she called again and met him. Conde declared. They left the hotel together, Conde saying they would go for a stroll in the park.

PATCHOGUE, L. I., April 6.—Mrs. Urania Conde, a Philadelphia shooting affair, was not known here.

ST. LOUIS RE-ELECTS WELLS. ST. LOUIS, April 5.—Complete returns given at St. Louis, Mo., Democratic candidate for re-election, a plurality of 1,425 votes over John A. Talty, Republican.

A Distinguished Showing of New Spring Suits & Overcoats

Such is the cleverness of our tailors that they have really out-tailored themselves in producing our new Spring suits and overcoats. No work has ever left the hands of the tailor-craft that better illustrates the possibilities of the trained, skilled tailor. With a subtle ingenuity, they have imparted to our new series of Twenty Dollar suits and overcoats a character and individuality that raises them far above the plane of usual ready-for-wear garments. So uncommon is the power with which they have mastered the intricate details of fine tailoring that it would be a difficult matter to rival these suits and overcoats even with the work of the best custom tailors.

Every garment is made with our famous new "Concave" Shoulder and "Closefitting" Collar.

$20 Spring Suits & Overcoats

There are six new models in short boxy Top Coats, made from double-twist coverts in the new shades—silk lined, at $20.

TROLLEY CAR JUST ESCAPES 50-FOOT FALL

Jumps Track on Bridge and Nearly Tumbles to Railroad Cut Below.

A Belt Line trolley car, carrying fifty people, jumped the track on a bridge crossing the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks in Jersey City to-day and hung suspended over a cut fifty feet deep, while the passengers fought wildly to get out of the back door. Women fainting in the crush and clothing was torn promiscuously, but no one was badly hurt.

The car, with Motorman Arthur Moonstein in charge, had just turned into Summit avenue from 8th avenue. As the curve is cleared the tracks run onto a bridge in Summit avenue over the cut through which the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks run through the heights of Jersey City to the Hackensack meadows.

Because of the strength of the bridge it is customary for motormen to run their cars across it at a fair rate of speed. Between the tracks and the foot-path is a wooden guard rail about a foot high and on the outside edge of the foot-path is a strong iron railing. These protections prevented the car from leaping into the cut.

Half way across the bridge the rails spread and the car plunged to the right, smashing the wooden guard, crossing the foot-path, breaking the iron railing and hanging over the railroad tracks with the front trucks entirely off the structure.

The rush to the rear door kept the weight in the rear of the car and helped avoid a bad accident, for had the passengers crowded to the front they must have overbalanced the vehicle and forced it to fall. The line was blocked for an hour until the car could be pulled back to the rails.
